Three one-act plays will be presented by the Mask and Rapier Dramatic Society as its first major production since reorganization. The three plays, "The Monkey's Paw", "In the Zone", and "The Still Alarm", will be performed in the Maryland Casualty Auditorium, Keswick Road and 40th Street, on Friday evening, November 29, at 8:30 p. m.

Tickets to the performance will be on sale at the door. Prices are one dollar for general admission and seventy-five cents for students.

This performance marks the return to the society's policy of annual major productions. The last such entertainment presented was "Career Angel" in 1944 under the direction of the Rev. Matthew G. Sullivan, S. J.

Forms Promotion Committee

Mr. William-M. J. Driscoll, S. J., director of the three plays, has formed a business promotion committee to aid in this and other productions of the society. Maurice F. Mackey is president of the Society and Mannes F. Greenberg is business manager.

In addition to the plays next Friday, the society plans production of a full-length play in the Spring.

Casts Listed

Rehearsals have been in progress for the past six weeks and the final selection of cast members is complete.

The opening play, "In the Zone", by Eugene O'Neill, has a cast of E. Clinton Bamberger, Jr., Emmet O'Brien, Albert Fitzgerald, John Downey, William Heffner, Frank Gallagher and Maurice Mackey.

Second will be George Kaufman's

Emerald Ring Raffle To Be Held Nov. 30

Only fifteen days are left before the raffling of the $1200 Emerald Ring between the halves of the Alumni basketball game on November 30 for the benefit of the Chapel Fund. Returns are coming in slowly at present and students are urged to turn in their completed books now to their class presidents.

Those desiring extra books may obtain them from their class president or from the chapel office in the Faculty Residence. Every student will be responsible for the five books which he received and all completed or uncompleted books must be returned to the class president.

John J. Sweeney, Jr., student president, is chairman of the raffle committee.

situational farce, "The Still Alarm". Theodore Heying, William Carver, Terrence Burke, Cyril Keller and James O'Neill are the cast.

"The Monkey's Paw", by the English mystery master, W. W. Jacobs, rounds out the evening's program. The cast is: George Herman, Robert Naden, Francis Janowiak, James Ripple and William Healy.

Seniors Vote Malloy Editor

Peter J. Malloy, secretary of the Senior Class, was elected editor of the 1947 Evergreen, the Senior Yearbook, at a recent meeting of the class. He has chosen Jerry Crawford and Thomas Lalley to assist him as associate editors.

A campaign for advertisements in the yearbook has already begun under the direction of Mannes F. Greenberg, business manager. The announced price of a full page ad is $50 and Greenberg has worked out a sliding scale for smaller ads.

To round out the nucleus of editors which Malloy has chosen, William Wiegand, Jr., and William Shea head the publicity committee. Guy E. Kagey is photography editor.

$2100 Yearbook

After consultation with Thomsen-Ellis-Hutton, publishers of the 1941 Evergreen, Malloy revealed that the approximate price of the yearbook would be $2100.

Present plans call for the publication of 150 copies, intended mainly for the Senior Class. Malloy emphasized that this was a conservative estimate and, since the yearbook includes all campus activities, the anticipated demand for books is much greater.

Seniors Pay Dues

At the class meeting, it was decided that every Senior should pay twenty-five cents into the general class treasury each week. Seniors will also pay $5.00 on their copy of the yearbook by the end of November.

Students wishing to reserve yearbook copies are asked to see Malloy as soon as possible.

New Buildings Here

Under the provisions of the Mead Act for veterans' educational facilities, the Federal Works Agency has allocated government surplus buildings to Loyola. Although the exact number and type of buildings allocated has not yet been revealed, the Rev. Robert G. Arthur, S. J., Dean of Discipline, has announced that accommodations for 1,100 students in the Spring enrollment are expected.

Present plans call for the location of the surplus buildings in the space between the main driveway and the fence surrounding the Garrett estate or in the handball courts.

Fr. Arthur was unable to say when the buildings would be delivered.

IRC Clubs Will Convene At NDM

For its first meeting of the year, the Maryland Regional Conference of International Relations Clubs will convene in the Fourier Library at Notre Dame of Maryland College on Sunday, November 24, at 2 p. m. The delegates will discuss the foreign policy of the United States in the postwar world.

Future IRC plans include an assembly at Vassar College on November 29 and 30. Gus A. Crenson, president of Loyola's club, and Edward C. Barrett, secretary, will represent Loyola.

Terrence E. Burke represented Loyola as the delegate to the model United Nations Security Council assembly at Catholic University on November 9. His advisers were Samuel Hasson and Barrett.

Topic for discussion was the Straits Question, a dispute between Turkey and Russia over the control of the Dardanelles. Burke, representing Russia, presented the opening speech to the Council.

Fr. Dougherty Selects Mr. Bangs As Director Of New Orchestra

by Joseph J. Davis

Mr. Herbert Bangs, leader of the second violin section of the Baltimore Symphony Orchestra, has been appointed Instructor and Conductor of the reorganized Band and Orchestra at Loyola. Mr. Bangs has been conducting rehearsals during the past few weeks.

The Rev. Joseph Dougherty, S. J., director of all Music activities, has scheduled the annual Christmas Concert for Sunday, December 15, at 8:00 p. m. Invitations will be mailed to Alumni, students and friends and relatives of students.

Fr. Dougherty also announced that elections in the Glee Club will be conducted in the near future.

With National Symphony

Mr. Bangs, a graduate of the Peabody Conservatory in the Class of 1921, was formerly Assistant Concertmaster and Leader of the second violin section of the National Symphony Orchestra at Washington, D. C.

On two consecutive Mondays, Mr. Bangs held preliminary rehearsals to determine the material he had on hand. At the first of these meetings, November 4, Mr. Bangs described his plans for the coming year. All students who have ever

Claude Thornhill Plays At November 23 Prom

Featuring Claude Thornhill and his new eighteen piece orchestra, the Class of 1948 will present the first large post-war Junior Promenade on Saturday evening, November 23, from 9 until 1. The Prom will be given in the Gymnasium at Evergreen. A few invitations are still available at the price of seven dollars.

Edward C. Barrett, president of the Junior Class, has revealed that Miss Kathleen Engers, of Notre Dame of Maryland College, will be the Queen of the Junior Promenade. She will receive the traditional bouquet from Miss Rosewin Tewey, guest of John J. Sweeney, Jr., president of the Student Body.

Miss Kathleen Engers

Claude Thornhill

Thornhill In War

Claude Thornhill, who played for the Junior Prom in 1941, had built up a well known orchestra before his entry into the armed services. In 1942, he enlisted as an apprentice seaman and subsequently was chosen to lead the "Rangers", the Navy's Pacific orchestra, on tours which led him to every island in the Pacific except the Japanese mainland.

Later the Navy organized the Claude Thornhill All-Star Show which gave over 400 performances, covering over 70,000 miles.

New Bandstand

Thornhill, regarded as one of the best performers and arrangers for the piano, will play on a special Steinway piano supplied by the Junior Class. The bandstand, in place of the old stage, will be rented and will place the orchestra on three tiers.

In the vocal department, Buddy Hughes and Jeanne Shirley are featured.

Decorations for the Gymnasium include a false ceiling, the use of the side lights with filters and, if delivery can be made in time, revolving lights with different colors.

Refreshments Served Free

Included in the price of the Prom invitation are refreshments. These will be served free of charge according to Neill Cole, Prom chairman.

Punch will be the only refreshment served. Upstairs on the main gym floor will be large tables with seasonal decorations. Small card tables will be placed around the present Recreation Room where refreshments will be served.

Alumni who wish to obtain the few remaining Prom bids may do so through the Alumni Office.

Fr. McCorry Directs Retreat For College

The Rev. Vincent P. McCorry, S. J., will be retreat master at the annual students' retreat on December 2, 3 and 4. As has been customary, the Very Rev. Edward B. Bunn, S. J., will deliver a series of lectures to the non-Catholic students in the college.

Fr. McCorry is well known at Loyola, having taught here from 1935 to 1938. He was co-moderator of THE GREYHOUND for two of his years here. He is now stationed with the New York Mission Band.

Because of the inadequacies of the present Chapel, the exercises of the retreat will take place in the Gymnasium. Mass will begin at 8:45 each morning. Lunch periods will be staggered so as to accommodate the large number of students.

Donald J. Giblin, Class Of 1945, Dies In Hospital

Donald J. Giblin, of the Class of February 1945, succumbed to tubercular meningitis on Thursday morning, November 7, at the University of Maryland Hospital. He had been ill since last Spring.

Funeral services were held last Saturday morning, at St. Mary's Church, Govans. Giblin was a graduate of Towson Catholic High School and formerly a member of the Immaculate Conception Parish, Towson.

President Of Council

While at Loyola, Giblin was president of the Student Council in his Senior Year. He also was class president for the second semester of Sophomore year and of Junior year. He was a member of the Alpha Sigma Nu and Associate Editor of the Evergreen.

He majored in science, graduating with cum laude honors. He had planned to study law after graduation.

At Western Electric

Until he fell sick last Spring, Giblin had worked in the Personnel Department of the Western Electric Company.

Of the eighteen men in his class, Giblin was the second member to die since graduation. William J. Ehorst died in September of 1945.

Donald J. Giblin, February 1945, who died last Thursday. He was president of the Student Body while at Loyola and class president in Sophomore and Junior years.

Gaudreau Has New Academy

Mr. Lucien E. Gaudreau, professor of Architecture, announced last week the formation of an Architecture Academy for all students who are interested in the subject, whether or not they take Mr. Gaudreau's early morning course. A definite time and place of the meetings will be set in the near future.

The specific purpose of the Academy is to sponsor interest in the various styles of architecture as they are portrayed in modern buildings. Illustrated lectures and tours are planned.

At the academy's first meeting, Leonard M. Lister was elected president, Richard C. Kemp, first vice-president, Fred B. Forman, second vice-president, Raymond L. Clemmens, secretary, and Dixon A. Yaste, treasurer.

Dr. Halecki To Give Final Lecture Sunday

Dr. Oscar Halecki will give the final lecture in his series of three on Sunday, November 17, at 4 p. m. when he discusses the postwar problems of his native Poland.

At his first lecture, Dr. Halecki outlined the problems of postwar Germany and Austria. His second concerned the threat of Russia to Europe.

Dr. Halecki deplored the lack of consideration which the present peace conference is giving to the fate of Eastern Europe. He called Russian policy a combination of Russian and Communist imperialism.

Greenberg Gives Finance Reports

Mannes F. Greenberg

In a report to the Student Council, Mannes F. Greenberg, treasurer, announced that approximately $475 had been realized from the Council's dance last September. The dance was given as a reunion dance.

The tea dance, held for the Freshman and Senior Classes at the expense of the Council, reduced the original sum by $125. At present, the Council is considering the use which it will make of the funds still remaining in the treasury.

Greenberg, as president of the Accounting Club, is also chairman of the Accounting Committee of the Student Council. His duties include the inspection of financial books for every class activity and the preparation of certified reports for the consideration of the Council.

In the near future, the Council will publish a social calendar of the future events scheduled at the College. This will enable class presidents and extra-curricular heads to plan their activities far enough in advance to avoid conflicts.

Med Schools Are Crowded

by Raymond L. Clemmens

(This is the second in a series of articles planned to acquaint the student body with recent developments in various professional fields.)

If your professional aspirations point toward the field of medicine, chances are that you are already carrying a heavy schedule. By this time, you've probably learned to chuckle indulgently when the professor mentions a "two hour" lab. You've also watched your seemingly more fortunate classmates who leave the campus about noon time two or three times a week, while you continue your school day until it's time to greet the night school students.

None the less, if the word of those who have gone before is any criterion of what lies ahead, it would be a good idea to become accustomed to late labs and heavy assignments.

Full Schedule

The average medical student has class Monday through Friday from nine until five. On Saturday, regulation hours are from nine to twelve but chances are that there will be a lab Saturday afternoon also. Preparation at home requires from four to five hours an evening.

First year subjects which the student tackles are Histology, Human Embryology and Gross Anatomy with perhaps Psychiatry in addition. The consensus of opinion labels the anatomy as the single heaviest subject. Four hours, for five afternoons a week, are spent on the one study.

Med School Requirements

Requirements for admission to most medical schools are usually similar. They include a year of Biology and Physics, two years of Chemistry, one of which must be Organic Chemistry, and one modern language, with German preferred.

Contrary to the general belief, no Latin is required by the Committee on Admissions. The undergraduate degree is not required by all medical schools, although officials are usually frank in admitting the desirability of a bachelor's status.

Schools Crowded

As are all schools of graduate studies, the medical colleges today are overwhelmed with requests for applications. One medical school recently reported in excess of two thousand applications for the one hundred positions available in its next class. It is extremely desirable to send in one's application as soon as possible.

In the nearby schools, only Georgetown and Maryland seem available for Loyola students. Johns Hopkins limits its quota for Maryland drastically so as to maintain its worldwide reputation among medical men all over the world. In addition, it trains the student for research rather than general practice. Maryland and Georgetown are considered equal scholastically, the latter has the advantage of being a Catholic school.

Chess Club Beats Profs

You can't live with members of the Chess Club these days.

On the other hand, members of the faculty are brimming with alibis for their shut-out in the Chess Match held last October 29.

The Chess Club "first team", composed of Comber, Bordley, Keller, Bradley and Fusting, defeated the faculty in five straight tilts.

List Defeated Team

Comprising the Faculty team were Mr. Walter S. Dawkins, Dr. Edward A. Doehler, Mr. Rudolph A. Doering, S. J., Mr. Barkley Fritz, and Brother William F. Hagerty, S. J.

Dr. Doehler, speaking for the faculty, said that "our defeat was due to lack of practice. With a few week's practice, we will be ready, willing, and able to make a more creditable showing." Taking up the gauntlet, Thomas Comber, president of the Club, has arranged to have bi-monthly meets with the Faculty team.

Officer Vacancies Filled

Chess players not being classified as essential by the draft boards, the club was deprived of two of its officers early this year.

To remove this deficiency, one of the members of last year's team, Philip Lohrey, was elected vice-president. Cyril Keller was chosen treasurer.

Historians Plan Senior Lectures

Expanding its activities for the coming year, the John Gilmory Shea History Academy will present a series of thesis-lectures between January and May of 1947. Lectures will be given by Seniors who are majoring in History.

A program of the lectures will be issued by the society in the near future, announced Dr. Edward A. Doehler, moderator. All students will be invited to attend.

The first of the scheduled lectures is temporarily assigned for Thursday afternoon, January 23, on the subject of Mirabeau. Other topics include Figures of the Congress of Vienna, Cardinal Richelieu, the Third Party Movement in the United States and Saladin.

The work of cataloguing the history of Loyola College since its foundation in 1853 is continuing. Plans call for the publication of a complete history of the College in the centennial year, 1953.

Dangerous Repetition

One of the most famous epigrams born during the last war was the statement by an unknown chaplain that "there are no atheists in foxholes". Men who were exposed to the dangers of combat usually renewed or intensified what interest they had in religion. Even at home, the lengthening casualty lists provided grounds for increased religious fervor. Churches reported record attendance and membership.

The same effect was more or less felt during the first World War. However, two or three years afterwards—the delay was due to the cholera—a reaction against this warborn religion set in. It would be too drastic to label this reaction as "atheistic"; more aptly it could be called "humanistic". It was not so much a denial of God as a deliberate disregard of God: the philosophy of pleasure. We face today the ever-growing opposition of a philosophy of life which denies the very basis of our belief, the existence of God. As believers in God, more specifically as Catholics, we have the duty of individually combating, as far as we can, the spread of this materialistic reaction.

No one likes to draw the obvious moral from these considerations. But the question that cannot be avoided, no-matter how much we squirm, is the question of our individual effort. Our first duty is one of preparation; the means are available at Loyola.

It is a sad commentary on our own individual effort when the two Sodalities at Loyola are forced to operate with a smaller membership than they had before the war. Last May, a handful of students were present at a May Demonstration in honor of the Blessed Virgin which the year before had been attended by almost the entire student body.

On December 2, 3 and 4, the annual Students' Retreat will be given. It will be given during the time ordinarily allocated for classes and thus every student will be able to attend. It is still not too late to join one or the other of the Sodalities on the campus. No further moral need be drawn.

Only Gripping

Since the beginning of the current collegiate year, more noticeably in the past few weeks, a group of students has expressed its disapproval of the policies of many of the student activities on the campus. One object singled out for special complaint has been THE GREYHOUND.

Recently in the Student Council, some remarks were made to the effect that steps should be taken to "vivify" or "revivify" THE GREYHOUND. Just what this revitalizing entails, no one seems to know—so far no one not on the staff has approached the moderator or editor with suggestions or even complaints.

There can be no disputing the fact that THE GREYHOUND and every other activity on the campus need suggestions and constructive criticisms and should welcome them at all times. All activities are limited by the limitations of the men in them. If a student feels that activities are not what they should be, he has his choice: either he may join the activity and work with it to make it better or make his suggestions known to those who can improve it, or he may merely gripe at what he considers imperfection and do no more. The second course of action is not worthy of the men we believe to be at Loyola.

Condolences

THE GREYHOUND, on behalf of the students and faculty of Loyola College, takes this opportunity to express its condolences to the family of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Giblin on the death of their son, Donald, of the Class of 1945.

Books On Review

by Gus A. Crenson

Mistress Masham's Repose by T. H. White

The fairy tale has been used so much as a vehicle for political satire that one is disposed to anticipate the quick thrust whenever gnomes, leprechauns, or rational quadrupeds make an appearance on the printed page. We cite "Barnaby" of the comic strips, Orwell's Animal Farm and, of course, the classic of them all, Gulliver's Travels.

When a company of Lilliputians appears on an old English estate, as happens in Mistress Masham's Repose, one naturally prepares to leer with the author at the aristocrats, the communists, the capitalists, the socialists, or anyone else the author sets out to destroy. For a hundred pages or so we search beneath the surface of the story, sometimes becoming impatient with Mr. White for neglecting spearing opportunities which to us seem perfect set-ups. At this point, the truth begins to insinuate itself; ours is a vain search for the double entente—the situation is being wasted on whimsy.

As whimsy, the tale is not bad. It concerns the affairs of ten year old Maria, orphan heiress to a huge estate. Her guardians are the evil governess, Miss Brown, and the more evil vicar, Mr. Hater. Maria discovers a Spartan community of Lilliputians on an island on the estate and tries to keep their whereabouts secret from the malicious pair. Mr. Hater decides that the Lilliputians will bring a handsome price in Hollywood and tries to force Maria to tell. She refuses and is cast into a dungeon.

The little people, hearing of her plight, send a rescue party to release her. With the assistance of an old scholar who lives on the estate, they free her. The professor summons the police and the two plotters are jailed for mishandling the estate and abusing Maria. The estate is restored to Maria and the sanctuary of the Lilliputians is preserved.

One can scarcely approve of the handling of the story after the stage-setting first hundred pages. However, Mr. White's talent is not entirely lost in the latter two-thirds of the book. The characterization of the Lord Lieutenant is sufficiently worthwhile to merit the reading of the whole book. Mention must also be given to the fine illustrations by Fritz Eichenberg.

Mr. White's previous work has been a farcical trilogy dealing irreverently and confusedly with the Knights of the Round Table. His whimsy is often heavy and he has difficulty in sustaining it. Mistress Masham's Repose, like all his books, must be read in the proper frame of mind.

Letters To The Greyhound

(Edward Hart of the Junior Class received the following letter from a former German prisoner of war who was captured in the early days of the Normandy campaign. While Hart was stationed at Le Havre, he was brought into contact with a group of German PW's working on the port, one of whom was Moeller. THE GREYHOUND believes that this letter represents an interesting and hopeful commentary on the German of today. The author served in many of the Wehrmacht campaigns and was wounded five times.)

British Zone, Germany
September 30th, 1946

Dear Mr. Hart,

I hope that this letter will reach you soon enough otherwise you might start thinking that I have forgotten you entirely. But that sure isn't so. As you have already learnt from my address, I am a civvie again. Well, it certainly has taken me a long time since my induction to go back on civvie street. The circumstances prevented my going to university for a while, but I hope they will become better next spring.

Pretty soon after you and all the rest of the bunch shipped out of the 535 AAA [Hart's battalion], I too got sort of homesick, so I started bucking for a discharge. Finally I got it and was transferred to a Central Continental Enclosure. After having been screened and Okayed by the F. I. D., I had to wait there for two more weeks as no transport was going, but finally the glorious day arrived.

Since then I have been terribly busy. At first I was looking for a job. That took me about ten days. Then I started chasing for a room. That took me three weeks. Now I am chasing for clothes. Besides I had to report to about ten civilian agencies from the Ration Board to the Board of Health, etc. I certainly didn't enjoy that at all.

Working For British

My job is sort of in the old line. I've given up the idea of studying this winter because the housing, food, coal, and textbook situation at Cologne and Bonn are by no means delightful. So I got me a job with the British Army. I am bossing about 200 German civilian workers. The British Tommies I am working for are pretty decent chaps, but they are very different from the American G. I. They are a little more quiet and more reserved. My wages are not bad altogether and the job is interesting so I got nothing to complain about.

After a lot of vain trouble I found me a room that is very nicely furnished and not too far from the plant. I would not have gotten it but for a recommendation by the British authorities to the German Housing office. I pay about one twelfth of my monthly wage for it. The only troubles left now are food and clothing. We get 1200 calories a day now and that certainly gives you one constant sensation in your belly. Less refined people call it hunger. I am wearing a pair of my old German army regulation pants, and a dyed G. I. jacket. But the aim of my letter is not to tell you my worries. You can hardly do anything to ease them and on the other hand, I bet that you have enough worries of your own.

Liked Americans

The main reason of my letter is to thank you for all your kind gifts and services rendered to me during my time with the 535 AAA Bn. You and some of your buddies have shown me that there is a lot of kindness in the heart of American boys even towards their former enemies in combat. I'll be thankful for that all my life and I hope most sincerely that we'll never have to fight each other again. Really, in spite of my freedom, my time with the 535 AAA doesn't belong to the worst times of my life.

There are lots of things I am missing now, and I really feel that I have become accustomed with the American way of life. Even my accent has become affected so that I got me a new name with the British Tommies, they used to call me Yankee because the first time of my employment they found my use of American technical expressions instead of the British ones very funny. Well, I hope that one of these days when things have become a little better, I may see your country myself.

I hope I haven't been taking too much of your valuable time by this letter. If you should find the time to mail me an answer, I should certainly appreciate it very much. Well, for today it's "Cheerio" and thanks so much for everything.

Yours faithfully,
Dieter Moeller

Alumni Chapel Drive Supplement

Father Bunn Urges Cooperation Of All Alumni

Rector's Message

My dear Alumni:

Last year this time the idea of a Chapel to memorialize Loyola's sons who served in World War II and those who gave their lives was the absorbing thought in my mind. The memory of the suffering and heartaches caused by the deaths of our heroic sons was vivid and burning in its intensity. It seemed to me then that the mere mention of the fact that we contemplated erecting a Chapel in their memory would meet with the most complete response on the part of the Alumni. We planned and published the brochure, "Lest We Forget", and our hopes were heightened for the realization of the Chapel by the enthusiastic reception of the brochure on the part of our alumni and friends.

At the Alumni banquet in February I announced the fact that we would begin at once to raise funds for the Chapel. The idea seemed to me to be so deeply personal to all alumni that I stated with confidence at that time that we wanted the Chapel erected from the gifts of each and every Loyola man. I preferred this to any outright promise of one benefactor to erect the Chapel. I wanted each man to feel that it was his Chapel, close to his heart, blazoning the deeds of his own fellow-alumni who had served their country and those who had died for it.

First Weeks Give Promise

When the campaign was organized and an Executive Committee appointed from the Alumni Association, the elected Chairman of the Committee, "Ike" George, pledged $250,000 from the Association. The opening weeks of the drive were stimulating ones, for it appeared that we would be able to obtain our goal in a short time. However, Spring and Summer weather and vacations slowed down the work and today we are far behind schedule.

Elsewhere in this issue is a report of the Alumni Fund. The picture encourages and challenges; encourages because of those who have contributed and challenges when we face the fact that a comparatively small percentage have made any contribution. To those who have subscribed we are most grateful but we urge every alumnus to rally to the appeal and make it possible to go ahead with our plans for a fitting memorial to our Service men.

Strictly Alumni Project

As stressed at all meetings of the Executive Committee, the College did not want to engage professional fund raisers. The personal effort on the part of each alumnus under the inspiration of this great cause, we felt, would be sufficient to achieve our goal. Our expectations in this were a source of both satisfaction and disappointment. Some were tireless, through class organization and their personal contact of other alumni. Others who were officially the class leaders made little or no effort.

Gifts Strengthen Alumni Assn.

I felt likewise that through our cooperative work the Alumni Organization would profit immensely in terms of becoming a more closely knit organization, by which the members could derive benefit from the College and the College be assisted by the enthusiasm and interest of the members. Money is important in any campaign and it would be foolish to state that it is not the foremost objective in the present Alumni campaign, but it will have the greatest value to Loyola when it is the free will by-product of pride in the College and understanding of its objectives and its inspiration. Another important fact is that when a man has freely given his financial support there his interest will be genuine and permanent. For that reason ten alumni subscriptions of $100 each are of greater value to Loyola than one pledge of $1000.

At present the Alumni Association has raised $91,000 which is a long way from the goal of $250,000. The main reason for this is that only 25% of the members have subscribed. If the other 75% subscribed on the same basis as the first 25%, we would be far over our goal.

Summer Committee Outstanding

An example of persistent and enthusiastic effort was the work done this Summer by eight men who went out and contacted old graduates at their homes or at their offices. In six weeks this group raised over $15,000 in spite of the handicaps of the Summer months.

I think for years to come the classes that reach a decent quota in proportion to their numbers will be very much gratified by the tablet in the Chapel which will give the class' achievement as well as the names of individual donors, and each contributing alumnus can experience the deep satisfaction of achieving for the College something that he and his children can point to with pride.

Purpose Of This Bulletin

Classes which have not yet reached their quotas will feel chagrin at the superior achievement of other classes. This special bulletin is being published in order to stimulate to greater effort those who have already been active and to arouse others to work so that everyone will have a fair opportunity to share in the glory of the Chapel which will be visited by people from all parts of the State and perhaps of the country.

I intend to have a brochure published also listing the donors and describing the different parts of the Chapel and its appurtenances which they gave.

Victory Dinner Projected

It seems to me that this is your opportunity and I feel certain that when your attention is focused on the Fund, you will not only respond, but will be determined and ceaseless in your effort, first, to give your personal contribution at once, secondly, to contact all your fellow-classmen for subscriptions, and thirdly, to help raise your class quota to a figure you will be proud of, so that the Alumni Association can meet its pledge of $250,000. I have been planning an Alumni dinner to commemorate our twenty-fifth anniversary here at Evergreen. I want to make this a Victory Dinner, but I cannot announce the date until the goal is in sight. It is still my hope that ground for the Chapel can be broken in the Spring.

Edward B. Bunn, S. J.

518 Members Pledge Help

Men of Loyola:

Five hundred and eighteen members of the Alumni Association have subscribed to the Chapel Fund.

For their loyalty and generosity we are sincerely grateful. There are fourteen hundred members, however, who have not responded to the appeal. Their intentions may be good, but we have no way to prove it except through their pledge.

Every day you delay sending in YOUR pledge you delay the construction of the Chapel and Auditorium with its much needed classrooms. The increase in enrollment, the largest Loyola has had, has taxed our facilities heavily, and we must have extra class rooms. The Auditorium will furnish eight.

Send in your pledge today, and secure one from a friend. Every member of the Alumni Association must redouble his efforts if we are to meet our obligation to raise $250,000 for "Our Lady's Chapel of Evergreen".

In the name of Alma Mater, we thank you sincerely for the contribution we are about to receive.

Sincerely,

Isaac S. George,

Chairman Alumni Chapel Com.

Fr. Hargadon Writes To '95 Class Captain

Dear Albert (Dr. Chatard):

May Christ our King smile upon you and all your dear ones—His Royal smiles of Heavenly graces. Just home from outside Retreats and here I find your very welcome letter awaiting me. The Memorial Chapel and Auditorium have a daily special in all my Masses. Heart and soul do I back this noble project. We are struggling down here on the Severn, and should I strike oil in abundance, I'll turn the streams towards Evergreen and give Alma Mater the wholesome floods.

Devotedly,

Francis B. Hargadon, S. J.

Manresa, Annapolis, Md.

Final Date For Fund Drive Set By Alumni President

Greetings, All Alumni:

As your new president, I welcome this my first opportunity to address you, thanking those who have contributed to the Chapel Fund Campaign and urging those who have yet to turn in their contributions to do so immediately. The campaign is scheduled to close on December 8, 1946; therefore, in order to make the Alumni quota, your prompt and generous response is necessary.

The college is obtaining from the Government temporary buildings which will provide much needed space for the unheard of numbers who are now attending Loyola College and the hundreds who desire and hope to be admitted in January.

Our Lady's Chapel, which will be primarily a vital, visible memorial to all Loyola men who served and died for their country will care for the spiritual training of her future sons, and will round out with the temporary building the facilities needed now.

You who have given so generously of your time and energy, as Group Leaders, Class Captains and Lieutenants under the inspired leadership of Ike George, Alumni Chairman, are to be congratulated for the success obtained to date.

This last appeal supported by your continued efforts will put the campaign over the top.

When we think of the sacrifice of the men who died; and the future sons of Loyola and America who will be trained in their spirit in the Chapel, can we fail to donate generously?

Our Lady's Chapel is your Memorial.

Jerome J. Egan,
Alumni President

in the Library at Evergreen

We hope to have enough pledges reported at this meeting to close the campaign on December 8th. Consult the financial report for names of those who have pledged, and bring in a report on November 24 on every man in your class. We have pledged ourselves to raise $250,000 toward the Chapel Fund. Father Bunn has secured $100,000, and will get $50,000 more. We need $160,000 of our $250,000. Come on, Men, let's put it over.

Approximately 90% of the names listed were dead; there were quite a few Jesuit and Secular priests on the list; I solicited everyone within reach by letter, telephone or personal visit and succeeded, as you know, to collect about $1,950.00 in cash and $550.00 in pledges from the classes named.

"I cannot help but feel that the younger members of our association have fallen down badly on the job, as among their friends, relations and family we should have made a much better showing, and I sincerely trust they will all get busy and complete this drive on or before the first of the coming year. Will be glad to be of any further service possible".

"I wish to express my approval of your plan of publishing in THE GREYHOUND full facts and figures on the Chapel Fund to date.

"When you consider that out of the original class graduating in 1921, only about ten of us are left and two of those are Jesuits, I think our class has done a very excellent job.

"Since practically all who are able to give at the present time have returned their pledge cards, there is very little left for us to do.

"With very best wishes for a successful conclusion to the campaign".

Letter From Summer Activity Committee Reporting On Success Of Solicitations

In an endeavor to keep the interest alive in the Chapel Drive throughout the summer months when it was felt that the main committee would be unavailable for assistance due to absences from the city, vacations, etc., and in order that the work of contacting every alumni member, in connection with the drive, would be carried on, a committee of eight was formed whose primary duty was to personally contact all alumni who had never been approached for a donation.

Father Bunn turned over to us 1,179 cards and at the outset our job looked tremendous, since we had but two months in which to do the work and the people to be contacted were spread all over the city and even in the suburbs of Baltimore. We began by holding our first meeting at the Stafford at which time we divided the cards into various districts of the city and the eight of us divided the districts between us.

We emphasized among us that personal contact was what we were after and in the final analysis we cannot place too much stress on this point. We were able to secure a better knowledge of how the alumni felt about the drive and its purpose and were, of course, able to secure quite a number of pledges from individuals who were just waiting for someone to call on them. So again we emphasize the point of personal contact.

Contacted Veterans

Again we came in contact with individuals who were veterans and desirous of re-entering the college but didn't know the mechanics of application. We referred these people directly to Father Bunn, who gave this matter his personal attention and assisted them in again starting the studies at Loyola. We were able to secure corrected addresses for the alumni records and although we were forced to call at some homes three and four times, yet we did finally get to the individual.

Our meetings were held every other week at the Stafford Hotel where we had dinner, a short meeting and then moved out to work. Our results while not startling, were gratifying to us. We contacted personally 575 individuals and secured in pledges or in cash $15,300.00. We discovered about 100 men who had left the city or could not be located. We received approximately 300 promises of future pledges and hope that the ground work that we laid in securing these promises will be followed up. The refusals were few and far between, an indication to us that the majority of the alumni were interested and desirous of contributing.

Summer Committee Disbanded

We disbanded on September 23rd with the recommendation that the matter be again referred to the general committee and that every effort be made to personally contact those individuals who had not as yet contributed. We feel certain that with the cooperation of all, the drive can be completed before the end of the year. We hope that those who promised contributions will mail them to Father Bunn as soon as possible and trust that those members of the Alumni, who have not as yet contributed, will do so and thus make the Alumni contribution to the Chapel 100%.

Letters Of Commendation Received During Chapel Drive

"... I feel a sense of obligation to Loyola for what she has done for two of my sons, and for what I am sure she will do for the third. And my heart is full of thanksgiving that my sons were all returned home from the war. I feel that the $100.00 I offer is quite inadequate to express my appreciation; but it is given gladly and with the wish that it were much more."

Sincerely yours,
A. M. Bacon, M. D.

"... on behalf of my boy, Billy, who is one of your College boys, I herewith enclose check in the sum of $1,000.00, as a donation for the new Chapel.

"If I can be of further service to you in the matter, please do not fail to call upon me, as I assure you both Mrs. Rogers and I are most grateful for the education he received at Loyola College, and for the splendid teaching and example given him in Catholic manhood."

William C. Rogers
Attorney-at-Law

"... You may rest assured that, if I am blessed with continued health and employment, I shall be only too happy to contribute an additional sum ($500 subscribed) to this worthy cause in thanksgiving to God for His having returned my son from the war whole in mind and in body.

Sincerely yours,
Victor A. Ryan

"... I do feel like I want to make a contribution, small though it is, to this ever lasting tribute to Loyola's heroes and I will appreciate it if you will accept it as a humble offering from one American to Loyola's Heroes who fought for all of us.

Sr. Rosalia Conducts Catechetic Lectures

Sister M. Rosalia, of the Mission Helpers of the Sacred Heart, gave a demonstration of the actual methods of teaching religion to her adult class on Saturday morning, November 9. The topic for the demonstration was the 'Virtue of Faith'.

Invitations to the demonstration were mailed to a number of religious and lay teachers of catechism in the Baltimore area. This demonstration, as well as those in the future, was open to the general public.

Sister Rosalia is Directress of Catechetics in the Adult Education School. Her course is designed to illustrate the means of effectively teaching catechetics to children in elementary schools.

Irish Priest Now At Loyola; Studies Math At Hopkins

by Gus A. Crenson

Despite population statistics, there seem to be more Irishmen in the United States than any other race. One has only to point to the hordes of "Sons of Erin" who parade down Fifth Avenue on St. Patrick's Day or the tremendous number of Notre Dame "alumni" who crowd into the stadium each Fall.

It was with a feeling of curiosity that we went to see a certified Irishman, the Rev. Richard Ingram, S.J., who has just arrived in this country to pursue graduate work in mathematics at Johns Hopkins. Fr. Ingram was formerly a resident of (where else?) County Cork.

He expects to remain in this country for two years. After receiving his doctorate in mathematics, he will return to Ireland and teach there. At present, he is a member of the Jesuit Faculty at Evergreen.

Studied In Dublin

Fr. Ingram was born in Belfast, Northern Ireland, but his parents moved to the South of the country when he was only a year old. When he was old enough to attend school, his family moved to Dublin and he attended the Belvedere College there, receiving what amounts to an American high school and college education.

He entered the Jesuit Novitiate in Dublin and was later sent to the College of the National University in Dublin to study mathematics. After four years of this postgraduate work, from 1935 to 1939, he received his degree of Master of Science.

In 1939, Fr. Ingram was also awarded a studentship or fellowship for two years at an American University approved by the National University of Ireland. The outbreak of the war prevented his sailing and he remained in Ireland to complete his theological studies. He was ordained in 1944.

Gives Picture Of Ireland

Irish writers who have voluntarily exiled themselves from their native country tend in the main to be highly critical to the De Valera administration.

In response to our questions, Fr. Ingram said that Ireland today was the happiest country in the world. "Mr. De Valera has been continually elected by his own constituency," he went on, "and the present government is certainly representative of the desires of the Irish people. Contrary to the impression which these writers like to leave, the Church takes no part in Irish politics."

"As to Ireland's position in the last war, the attitude was one of friendly neutrality towards England. It may be pointed out that the animosity between the two islands is decreasing although there will always be a barrier between the two countries."

Gaelic Taught In Schools

The use of the national language, Gaelic, a pet project of the present Irish government, is steadily increasing according to Fr. Ingram. It is required for all civil service positions.

When Fr. Ingram applied for his visa, he was told by the American consul that there were more than 4,000 applications for entry into this country. He attributed this movement out of the country to the high wages which are being offered in America and, to a lesser degree, in England. We tried to get a rise out of Fr. Ingram by asking him whether he thought that Northern Ireland belonged to England, but he contented himself with saying that at least half of the people in Northern Ireland would prefer amalgamation with the Free State.

ALUMNI DOINGS

By Edward A. Doehler, '30

EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE MEETING

The first meeting of the new administration of the Alumni Association was held at Evergreen on the evening of Friday, November 1. President Jerome J. Egan, in calling the meeting to order, indicated his intention of continuing the practice of holding regular monthly meetings following the precedent establishment under President Anselm Sodaro.

Following routine business, President Egan announced the reorganization of the regular Standing Committees of the Association. The Membership Committee, charged with the task of bringing new Alumni into active membership and stimulating activity among those already on the rolls, was entrusted to the chairmanship of Rene Gunning. The College Interests Committee, whose role is the stimulation of Alumni interest in and support of academic, athletic and social activities of the College, is to be headed by Edward Stevenson.

The Entertainment Committee, acting as a coordinating body for the supervision of the several activities conducted and sponsored by the Association in the course of the year, has as its chairman the new 2nd Vice President, J. Joseph Curran. The important Student Aid Committee has not as yet been reorganized.

Besides the appointment of committees, appointive officers of the Association also were named. John J. Sweitzer was reappointed Treasurer and Edward A. Doehler Financial Secretary. Due to the resignation of Robert B. Bouchelle, Recording Secretary, this vacancy was filled by the appointment of Donald J. McClure. Robert D. Rector will continue as athletic representative under the College Interests Chairman and Charles Broderick as social representative under the Entertainment Chairman.

A report from Retreat Captain John J. Kernan, told of plans for the Retreat to be held at Manresa-on-Severn December 6 to 8 and advised making early reservations.

Robert D. Rector, Athletic Representative, outlined plans for the Socials to be held after home games of the basketball season. The Executive Committee voted to sponsor the event following the Alumni Game on the night of November 30.

Athletic Office Sets New Rules For Ticket Sale

It has been announced by the Loyola Athletic department that each student will be issued a student season basketball book. This book will entitle a student to a reserved seat for each home game. Books may be called for at the Athletic office only, effective this date.

Students may obtain reserved tickets on the day of any particular home game at the Athletic office until 5 p. m. Also, they may be obtained at the ticket booths on the night of the game.

Three Sections Reserved

Three sections will be reserved for students and their friends until 8:30 p. m., the evening of the game. Students will receive their reserved ticket by presenting their season book at the ticket booth. The stub corresponding to the game number must be attached to the book.

It is necessary that every bookholder read the conditions on the inside covers of the season book. The conditions on the back of the book, as regard to "sell-out" games do not apply to student books. A season book does not entitle the holder to a special seat in the gym.

Students may purchase regular season books in addition to the student one, which will be issued to them, at $3.00 each.

Seating Plan

The seating and ticket system planned for the coming basketball season is intended to insure patrons of ample seating choice advantages, while being as fair as possible to all. In the event that a student does not purchase additional season books, the price for each game will be 85¢, tax included. No reduced rate tickets for children or students will be sold.

Entrance to the gym will no longer be through the lower floor doorway. Ticket cubicles will be stationed at each of the main doorways, on the south side of the building, (next to the athletic field.) The west entrance will be for seats in the south and west stands, while the east entrance will be for seats in the north and east stands.

All home games will start at 8:45 p. m., preliminaries at 7:00 p. m. Sunday games, which will start at 3:00 p. m., mark the lone exception.

At present the seating capacity is approximately 1200, of which 231 seats will be held for Loyola students and their friends until 8:30 p. m., as stated before. After this time they will be opened to everyone. These latter seats are directly opposite the player's bench, on the south side of the gym. Entrance to this section will be through the West door.

Loyola Booters Shutout Western Md. and Virginia

Murphy Scores Three Goals Against Terrors

With both teams handicapped by a strong wind, the Greyhounds of Loyola defeated the Terrors of Western Maryland, 3-0, on the losers' field, for their first Mason-Dixon conference victory.

During the first five minutes of the opening quarter, the Hounds missed three shots at the opponents' goal, but after seven minutes had elapsed, Jim Murphy drove a right-footed kick through the uprights for the initial tally for the Green and Gray squad.

Starlings Makes Save

In the second quarter, Pete Starlings, Loyola goalie, made a beautiful save of an attempted Western Maryland goal. In the closing minutes of that period, Bill Linz took a shot which just missed the Terror net.

Early in the second half, a corner kick by Gene Seltzer stopped in front of the cage, and after being punted by several players, was headed into the goal for the second score by Murphy.

Murphy Scores Again

A few minutes later, Murphy again moved in front of the Terror goal, and drove a ball off the leg of Specknell, Western Maryland goalie, for the final score.

In the closing period, the fine footwork of Hen Linz, Jack Grill, Harry Bullington, Ray Bevans, Al Filbert Ed Vidali and John Boone kept the Terrors in check until the closing gun.

Greyhounds Trim Cavaliers At Evergreen

The Linz brothers, Bill and Henry, teamed up to lead the Greyhound soccer team to a 2-0 victory over the University of Virginia on November 2nd at Evergreen. Both tallies were made in the first half.

Loyola had no trouble with the Cavaliers, who have yet to win in three starts. The Greyhounds played aggressive ball, although it took the first quarter for them to settle down.

H. Linz Scores

The contest was scarcely three minutes old when Henry Linz leaped up in the middle of a scrimmage in front of the Cavalier goal and headed the ball past the goalie for the first marker. The Greyhounds kept the action in enemy territory, but could not muster anymore scoring ability.

The second stanza was marked by exceptionally rough playing by both teams. Virginia brought the ball down for a shot at the local goal, but it was deflected and returned with beautiful teamwork, climaxed by a terrific shot by Bill Linz which swished the net two minutes before the half ended.

Free Substitution

The tempo increased in the third period as the Loyola booters roamed freely in Virginia territory. Little Joe Boulay, substituting at outside right, played stellar ball. With a 2-0 margin the Greyhounds were able to substitute freely and every man on the Green and Grey team saw action.

Vic, Franny Bock Sign With Bombers

Within a week of the announcement of the signing of Barney Goldberg with the professional Bullets, came the news that Vic and Franny Bock, members of Loyola's cage quints from 1939 through 1942, had penned contracts with the Wilmington Blue Bombers of the American professional basketball league.

The popular brothers, who cavorted on three Greyhound court teams that garnered Mason-Dixon titular honors, have played for a number of amateur city squads since their graduation from Evergreen. Last year they saw action for the alumni against the varsity, and were the main reason for the grads' 49-39 triumph.

Vic, a 6' 2" lad, is an exceptional set shot artist and a capable floorman, and Franny, who stands an inch better than his brother, is a constant threat with his tricky play and clever pass work. Two of the finest team players to serve on the Evergreen court, they seem certain to continue their basket careers in convincing fashion.

Cross Country Squad Drops Close Meet To Johns Hopkins

In their second Mason-Dixon Conference race of the season, on November 1, the Greyhound harriers bowed to a well rounded Johns Hopkins team by a score of 23-34. The race was run on the very level four mile Blue Jay course.

George Brown, of Loyola, took individual honors, winning the race in 24 minutes 1.8 seconds. Jimmy Trachsel and Brown repeatedly took the lead away from one another for the first two miles, until at the half-way mark Brown gained and held the lead until the end of the race. Trachsel finished the race in second place in 25.03, and Jerry Courtney of Hopkins finished third in 25.15.

Conference Meet

With three weeks of inactivity ahead of the Greyhounds, their prospects for the Championship meet to be held at Gallaudet on November 26, do not look too good. The harriers are green, and they great-

Shoremens Nip Hounds, 2 to 1

by Ed Hart

In a nip and tuck soccer battle, the Greyhound booters ended their 1946 season, suffering a 2 to 1 defeat at the hands of Washington College.

The Hounds were really all out for this win, since Washington had eaked out a 1 to 0 victory in their last encounter at Evergreen. However, as in most contests, the breaks decided the game. Washington had the breaks throughout the game.

Washington Scores

In the latter part of the first quarter, Tattersall of Washington on a foul shot, kicked the ball past Pete Starlings, Loyola's goalie, for the first Washington tally.

The Loyola booters fought back and threatened the Eastern Shoremen's goal, time and time again, but as Jim Murphy and Hen Linz were closing in for the shot, the pass was intercepted and in the next few seconds, the quarter was up, ending their drive.

The second period saw the Hounds put up a strong defense against the attackers. Hastings, of the Washington College team, however recovered a fumble of Pete Starlings and easily booted the ball through the Loyola posts for the Blue and White second and final goal.

Twice in the third stanza Bill Linz had set-up shots from foul shots, but the first time the ball went flying over the top of the Washington goal and on the second play, the ball hit the post and rolled off sides.

Loyola Battles Hard

In the final period, Linz settled down and booted the ball past the Washington goalie for the lone Loyola point. The pressing offense of the Green and Gray, as the clock ticked away the final minutes, was not enough to give the Hounds another scoring opportunity and the Eastern Shoremen walked off the field with a 2 to 1 win.

Running With The Hounds

by Tim Parr

After two years of playing an abbreviated basketball schedule, the Greyhounds of Loyola College are returning once again to their prewar standards, and are playing a 30-game card. In addition to the regularly met Mason-Dixon clubs, the Hounds are engaging such top teams as Rhode Island State, Seton Hall, University of Scranton, Villanova College, La Salle, St. Francis of Brooklyn, and Albright College. The Hounds get off to a fast start, opening up with the Alumni on November 30, and entertain the soldiers from Ft. Belvoir on December 4. They swing north on the week-end, to engage three top teams of the northern circuit: Rhode Island State, Seton Hall, and La Salle. The Green and Gray five then return to Evergreen to open the Mason-Dixon conference against Gallaudet on Tuesday, December 10.

A call for candidates issued early in the fall was answered by almost 60 basketball players, many of whom were members of Greyhound quintets before entering the service. After weeks of intensive training in the fundamentals of the sport, and inter-squad scrimmage, Coach Lefty Reitz has narrowed his hopefuls down to 25. The 1944 squad, which lost the tournament to Mt. St. Mary's by a one point margin, has returned intact. An outstanding member of this squad, and runner-up for state high scorer in the same season, Jim Lacy, will be back on the Evergreen hardwood this season. Jim played a lot of ball in the service, spending a season with the Bainbridge Naval Training Center Team, and will prove to be one of the big guns in the Hounds defense. Other members of the 1944 squad who have returned to Evergreen are Gene O'Connor, Tom Gisriel, Bill Davis and Ed McGarry.

Coach Reitz has announced that candidates for the B squad have started practice, and that in addition to playing the preliminary games against local high school quints, they will make several trips to engage the B squads of such colleges as La Salle and Western Maryland.

Now that the recent soccer season here at Loyola is history, your editor will make a few final comments on the past season before the records are placed in the files for future reference. The Hounds opened the season like a house a-fire, downing West Chester, 4-2. The following week, they dropped one to Rider College, 2-0. The two succeeding games one against Johns Hopkins and the other against Washington College, told a similar story, but the scores were much closer. In their third appearance against Mason-Dixon competition, the Green and Gray booters were victorious over Western Maryland, 3-0, and for the first time in five starts, they exhibited the caliber of ball of which they are capable. In winning the Virginia game 2-0, the Greyhounds demonstrated that with the return next season of the 1946 squad intact, Loyola should be the team to beat in the Mason-Dixon loop.

Varsity Set To Face Alumni In Cage Opener Nov. 30

In fifteen days, the varsity basketball team will make its 1946-47 debut in the annual Alumni contest in the Evergreen gym.

This November 30 battle, which opens the biggest schedule a Greyhound cage contingent has played, will bring together a pair of teams that may well stage the classiest game of the campaign on the home hardwood. Admission will be free.

Hounds Poised

With two full months of rigid drills behind them, Lefty Reitz's charges are in peak condition for the curtain raiser, and with several pre-war stars back in harness after a three-year layoff, the graduates will have a big night before them.

Reitz has yet to definitely decide on his starting team, but after numerous inter-squad scrimmages and the practice engagement with the professional Bullets, the veteran Hound coach feels he has a number of courtment who will prove very valuable in the ensuing Mason-Dixon derby.

Lacy Returns

Jimmy Lacy, one of the greatest figures Loyola has put on the court in the last decade, will most likely answer the starting whistle at his familiar forward post. Holder of the Maryland collegiate scoring scramble in 1943-44, and possessor of the individual high game mark with 32 points in a tilt against American U., the southpaw sensation has proved he has forgotten nothing of his point making wizardry.

Gene O'Connor, Lacy's competent team mate in college and at Loyola High School, will probably be at one of the guard slots. A clever shot and a tricky floor man, O'Connor is being counted on to furnish the scoring when the going gets tough.

Two giant cagers who soon destined to play a big part in Reitz's plans are Tom Gisriel and Don Galoway. Both stand well over six feet, and gained plenty of experience on service quints during their tenure in the armed forces.

Other Candidates

Pre-war luminaries such as Ed McGarry, Wish Galvin, Bill Davis, Jack Wintz and Frank Scrivener, are making bids for starting berths along with last year's squadmen and a number of schoolboy stars and newcomers from other sections.

Sid Roche and Buck Ward of last year's varsity, Bill Ferguson, Bill Johnson, Bob Barry, Buzz Stricker, Fred Olinger, Jim Bailey, John Whalen and Andy O'Donnell have all shown good form to date.

Hyenas Pace League In Grid Intramurals

Adopting the name of the world's ugliest woman has proven no thorn in the side of the Intramural Football League's pace-setters. Originally known as the Seniors, they suddenly decided to play under the label of 'Lena's Hyenas', a bit of psychology against the rest of the league.

The squad, sounding somewhat like a basketball roster is composed of Gene O'Connor, Sid Roche, Jack Wintz, Doc Connor, Wish Galvin, Ed Rommel, and Ed McGarry. A 41 to 6 win over the Wildcats tops the single-game scoring efforts of the local gridiron scourges.

Second place finds the Hustlers holding down this runner-up slot, with a record of three triumphs against a single setback. The Hustlers offer the only real threat to the Hyenas' championship claims, and the cry around the league is 'stop those Hyenas'.

LEAGUE STANDINGS

Bullets Sign Barney Goldberg, Former Greyhound Court Star

The Baltimore Bullets, member of the American Professional Basketball League, recently announced the signing of Barney Goldberg, former Loyola College court star who graduated from Evergreen in January 1943. In the opening game of the season, Goldberg played for fifteen minutes, racking up two field goals for a four point total to aid the Bullets to whip the Brooklyn Gothams at the Coliseum. Barney was also to be seen in action on the Evergreen court three weeks ago when the Bullets came out to scrimmage the Greyhounds in a pre-season tune-up.

Was Great High School Star

Before coming to Loyola, Goldberg was an outstanding player on the Calvert Hall High School team of 1938-39 that went to Chicago to play in the National Catholic Championships. It was in '39 that he was named on the All-American Catholic High School team.

When Barney came to Loyola, he showed his ability in inter-collegiate basketball by holding down a berth on varsity fives for four straight years.

Loyola's Trickiest Floorman

There have been men who rolled up leading scores among the former Loyola "greats", but there was never a trickier, faster floorman than the Barney Goldberg whose deceptive feinting and bullet-like passing thrilled Loyola court fans from '39 to '43.

Barney was a miler on the track team at Loyola in '42 and played outside right on the soccer team in '40 and '41.

As a Marine Lieutenant in the Southwest Pacific, Goldberg was awarded the Presidential Unit Citation and Division Commander Commendation.

First Time In Pro Ball

Goldberg is the only present member of the Bullets who has not had any previous professional basketball experience. To player-coach Buddy Jeannette of the Bullets, after watching Barney in tryout sessions, that lack of pro experience was negligible.

For those who saw Goldberg in action with the Bullets at the recent scrimmage with the Greyhounds, there was no doubt about Barney's ability to hold his own in professional basketball. There will be a lot of people going down to the Coliseum just to see Loyola's Barney Goldberg fool his professional opponents with the same brand of tricky ball-handling he exhibited on the Evergreen hardwood a couple of years ago.

Four Evergreen Alumni Elected To State And National Offices

by M. F. Mackey

Four Loyola alumni were voted to offices in the recent national and state elections. Governor Herbert R. O'Connor, of the class of 1917, was chosen to be the new United States Senator from Maryland, defeating his opponent, Brig. Gen. D. John Markey, by a slim margin.

Hugh A. Meade, a 1929 graduate of Loyola College, was elected to the House of Representatives and James J. Lacy, Loyola '26, was the public's popular choice for State Comptroller. Bernard Wells was re-elected States Attorney.

Long Battle For Senate

For the governor, it was one of the slimmest margins of victory in twenty-five years as a public official. Only after an official count of the ballots was the governor declared elected.

Elected States Attorney in 1924, he reorganized that office, since known for its smooth, swift dispensation of justice. After a term as Attorney General of the State of Maryland, he was elected in 1938 to be Governor of the State, and re-elected in 1942.

Scene At Campaign Headquarters

At the Emerson Hotel, Democratic campaign headquarters, election night was a long-drawn-out, hectic affair. The corridors were thronged with office-seekers and well-wishers generally; "politics" seemed a pretty nerve-wracking business.

In the candidates' rooms, everyone was noting the latest election returns, broadcast by the city's ablest radio reporters. Mr. Lacy and Mr. Meade didn't have a long wait to be assured of election; Governor O'Connor was just commencing the long vigil he was to make for several days.

Meade Thanks Alumni

Big, affable Hugh Meade, together with his wife, the former Isahel Muth, posed for a Loyola photographer in a corridor outside his room. After being 'congratulated in advance of his election, Mr. Meade remarked: "If elected, I owe a great deal to my Loyola friends and classmates. My six youngsters did much to help me during this campaign especially. I am grateful to all who aided me in any way, and I will do my best to represent everyone in my district."

The youngest of the major state democratic candidates elected to office, Mr. Meade served in the recent war as a naval officer. He will begin his first term in January as one of Maryland's representatives in the Fortieth Congress.

Lacy Former Loyola Court Star

In Lacy's room there was never any doubt about the outcome of the election for State Comptroller. Virtually conceded the election in advance by his opponents, Mr. Lacy became the party's most popular candidate at the polls.

A former Loyola basketball star, Mr. Lacy took the occasion to point out the merits of athletics at Evergreen: "What I learned in clean, fair play on the basketball court and in sports at Loyola generally, has always promoted me in business and politics and in all my endeavors."
